MYTHOS SOUL LINK PLATOON

With the coordinated attacks by Mythos forces across the globe sending the existing Blocs into chaos, the way was violently paved for a new dawn to break. The only being to wield the sword of Ra and survive, Rasputin interprets the will of the gods and provides guidance to the more mortal forces at his disposal.

The losses incurred mean so very little in the grand scheme of total illumination, every casualty yet another willing soul gifted to the hunger of the gods.

PLATOON ADVANTAGE: THE FLOW OF LIFE AND DEATH

A man murdered four times over, Rasputin's connection to the other side has granted him a unique outlook on what it means to truly die. The true gods never die, but merely slumber beneath the surface and wait.

Once per game Rasputin can transfer wounds inflicted to a unit he's a part of to any Mythos Creature within Range 2. This transfer of wounds does not require line of sight and Damage Resilience still applies to these wounds.

SUPPORT UNITS

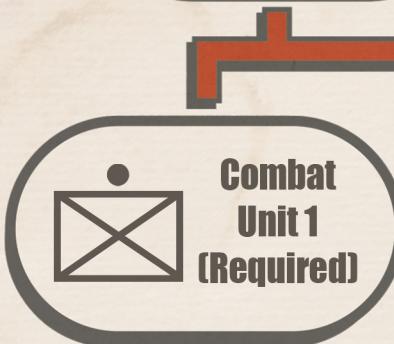

While the powers of Rasputin alone are formidable, his might is further emboldened when joined with the voices of a Cultist Command Squad. Together, Rasputin is able to cast his eldritch powers far and wide with relative impugnity.

Hungry to serve the cause, Cultist Kill Squads and Cultist Fire Support Squads stand ready to lay down their lives so that their bullets may turn the sands beneath their feet red with the blood of their enemies.
